

Scout Overnighter at Carnegie Science Center

Date: Friday, 7 March 2003

Activities: Omnimax movie, hands on science workshops, exhibits, a light snack in the evening, continental breakfast in the morning (maybe a planetarium show?); includes special workshops designed to help the scouts earn badges, patches, and official recognition.

Cost: Total, $28 per individual. $10 due (attached to bottom part of this page) due to Joe Grabowski no later than the pack meeting on Monday 30 September. We'll collect the remaining $18 from each participant one month prior to the event. Please note, the downpayment is non-refundable (we can try to sell your reservation to another scout if your plans change, but there are no guarantees).

Details: In Spring '01, the pack sent 45 individuals to a General Overnighter. In Spring '02, the pack sent 34 individuals to a Sportsworks Overnighter (the Sportsworks Overnighter is more expensive than the Scout Overnighter). I have already reserved 35 spots for Spring '03 Scout Overnighter and will likely be able to increase that in the near future if more than 35 individuals plan to attend. But please note, the last two years, we have not be able to get into a Scout Overnighter since they fill up quickly (we typically called around Thanksgiving time for a Spring date).

More extensive details can be found at <http://www.carnegiesciencecenter.org>.

Additional details will be provided to the pack one month before the event (when we collect the final payment).
